RE: THE OCCUPATIONAL SAFETY AND HEALTH (CONSTRUCTION) REGULATIONS.

The Ministry of Labour & Social Security in collaboration with the Construction Industry Council has drafted the Occupational Safety and Health regulations for the construction sector. These regulations have been formulated as required by the Occupational Safety and Health Act 2001. They describe the requirements and obligations that must be complied with when embarking on construction work to ensure that all construction work is performed in a safe manner.

The Regulations apply to all persons involved in construction work and make non-compliance an offence sanctioned by either a fine or imprisonment and/or both. The draft is now available to stakeholders to make their submissions.

Stakeholders can access the draft from our website www.gov.sz . Submissions can be forwarded to phazizwa@gmail.com, yumani.vt@gmail.com, min_labour@gov.sz. Submissions can be made until 30th June 2019.
